The personnel of the Grenada School District have long been good stewards of taxpayer dollars, according to the newest elected member of the Board of Trustees, and he plans to work alongside his colleagues to continue that legacy.

Kevin Carnathan was elected to the District One seat in November and, shortly after his official swearing in, on January 12, he said that his education in GSD gave him a fierce sense of loyalty to the blue and red.

"This has been a great district for years and I want to do my part to keep it strong and maintain its reputation, which means providing the best educational experience for our students," said Carnathan, 40, whose three children attend school in GSD.

Carnathan will serve a five-year term. He makes his living as financial consultant for Regions Bank. Carnathan is also a member of Emmanuel Baptist Church and the Grenada Kiwanis Club. He enjoys coaching summer league baseball and Upward Basketball, as well as outdoor activities, like hunting, fishing and golf.

"We do so many things well in this district, but I'm especially proud of the variety of activities we offer, including academic and extracurricular," said Carnathan.

Superintendent Dr. David Daigneault expressed high regard for Carnathan, saying that he had the business acumen and volunteer experience to succeed. "Kevin will do an excellent job," said Daigneault. "His background as a strong proponent of academics and athletics, as well as of Visions and the Grenada Band, give him the experience to help propel our District forward."

Carnathan will serve alongside District Two Member and Board President Dr. David Braswell, District Three Member Arlene Conley, District Four Member Marjorie Hughes and District Five Member Brent Brasher.
